Ichigo Sakaisuji Honmachi Building Receives Outstanding Waste Reduction Building Award from Osaka City

Ichigo Office’s Ichigo Sakaisuji Honmachi Building has received an award from the Osaka City Environment Bureau for its outstanding initiatives in reducing and recycling waste as a large-scale building.

1. Outstanding Waste Reduction by Large-Scale Buildings Recognition Program

Since 1999 Osaka City has been presenting the Outstanding Waste Reduction Certificate to building owners and property managers that have made remarkable achievements in reducing waste, promoting appropriate waste disposal, and maintaining environmental cleanliness.

Building owners and property managers that have continued to carry out such outstanding efforts over a specific period of time are awarded a letter of appreciation from the Director of the Osaka City Environment Bureau. This year owners of 77 buildings were presented with this award.

The Ichigo Sakaisuji Honmachi Building was recognized by the Osaka City Environment Bureau as an “Outstanding Waste Reduction Building” for its continuous waste reduction efforts and its partnership with tenants in sorting waste.

Information about the award (Japanese only) is available at Osaka City’s website:
